The invocation was offered by John Short, pastor, Hill Country Bible Church Northwest, Austin, as follows:

Heavenly Father, we recognize today that publicly addressing you is a gift freely given to us in these United States of America because you have blessed us with freedom and for that we say thanks. We offer up our praise for the grace you have given to all of us in this room. With this praise we ask that you help us to follow your guidance as we make decisions for the citizens of this great state. We desire to acknowledge you as our first president, George Washington, did in one of his journals as he prayed these words:

"Most mighty and merciful Father, though I am not worthy to appear before you, because of my natural corruptions, yet I make a plea to you, thanks and praises for your manifold mercies extended toward me, for the quiet rest and peace of the past night, for food, protection, health, peace, liberty, and the hopes of a better life. Father, continue your mercy and favor to me this day, and ever after; propose all my lawful undertakings; let me have all my directions from you and success from your bountiful hand. Let your light so shine into my heart, and enlighten my mind in understanding, that I may be enabled to perform your will in all things and effectually resist all temptations of the world. Preserve and defend our leaders in church and state. Bless the people of this land, be a father to the fatherless, a comforter to the comfortless, a deliverer to the captives, and a physician to the sick. Let your blessings guide this day and forever."

These things we ask because of your love for us and because of your dear son Jesus Christ. Amen.

The speaker recognized Representative Berman who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.
