CSSB 6 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Moody raised a point of order against further consideration of CSSB 6 under Rule 8, Section 10 of the House Rules and Article III, Section 56 of the Texas Constitution on the grounds that the bill is limited to one or more subdivisions by means of artificial devices.

The speaker overruled the point of order and submitted the following statement:

Rule 8, Section 10(b) of the House Rules prohibits the house from considering "a bill whose application is limited to one or more political subdivisions by means of population brackets or other artificial devices in lieu of identifying the political subdivision or subdivisions by name." This prohibition does not apply if the proposed classification "bears a reasonable relation to the purpose of the proposed legislation" Article III, Section 56(b) of the Texas Constitution says that "in all other cases where general law can be made applicable, no local or special law shall be enacted" Courts have read the constitutional provision to allow the legislature "to make classifications for legislative purposes" so long as the "legislation is intended to apply uniformly to all who come within the classification . . . and the classification must be broad enough to include a substantial class and must be based on characteristics legitimately distinguishing such class from others with respect to the public purpose sought to be accomplished by the proposed legislation." Miller v. El Paso Cnty., 150 S.W. 2d 1000, 1001-1002 (Tex. 1941) (holding unconstitutional a population bracket determined by the preceding federal census where the court could discern no substantial relation between the bracket and the reason objects sought to be accomplished by the legislation).

Representative Moody contends Section 10 of CSSB 6 contains an impermissible bracket. That relevant portion of that section reads:

Sec. 43.017 [~~43.037~~]. PROHIBITION AGAINST ANNEXATION TO SURROUND MUNICIPALITY IN CERTAIN COUNTIES. (a) A municipality with a population of more than 175,000 located in a county that contains an international border and borders the Gulf of Mexico may not annex an area that would cause another municipality to be entirely surrounded by the corporate limits or extraterritorial jurisdiction of the annexing municipality.

(b) A municipality described by Subsection (a) to which Section 42.0235 applies and a neighboring municipality may waive Subsection (a) if the governing body of each municipality adopts, on or after September 1, 2017, a resolution stating that this section is waived.

Representative Moody correctly observes that the only county to contain an international border and the Gulf of Mexico is Cameron County, and suggests, on that basis, that the bracket creates a closed class. The bracket, however, applies to "a municipality with a population of more than 175,000" within that county, and there is no dispute that a municipality within Cameron County could grow into or fall out of the class, meaning that the class is open. Representative Moody further argues that there is no substantial reason to bracket the bill in this manner. In response to that argument, defenders of the bill argue that Cameron County's position on both the international border and the Gulf Coast means that it faces a combination of development and land-use challenges that are found in no other county. For example, Cameron County contains over 30 colonias, which are developments primarily found along the international border and which have unique public health concerns, and a large portion of the county is designated as a catastrophe area (which implicates a range of construction and development concerns) based on its location on the coast.

Defenders further argue that the bracket in this bill already exists in current law and should therefore be found to be constitutional. The chair is not willing to find that every bracket contained in current law is per se constitutional and in compliance with house rules. However, in this case, the chair concludes that the open class created for municipalities located both near an international border and the gulf coast is based on legitimate and reasonable distinctions from other municipalities for the purposes of annexation. The point of order is respectfully overruled.
