AMENDMENT NO. 1 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE MURPHY: Yesterday, we had an amendment on this bill that really hurt the bill, and today, this amendment would remove that amendment from this. I move for adoption.

REPRESENTATIVE CALANNI: Representative Murphy, why are we taking this amendment off?

MURPHY: Well, because it really hurts the bill in the sense that we wanted to make sure that a superintendent who was dismissed for cause would not receive compensation. That amendment that was added yesterday makes it very ambiguous, and we don't want to see those people get their severance pay if they're dismissed for cause. That's the purpose of taking the bill back to its original purpose. And just for members to know, this was a Sarah Davis bill that we had yesterday.

CALANNI: Representative Murphy, were you aware that that exact language was passed 27 to 4 out of the senate?

MURPHY: We are always enthusiastic about senate ideas in the house, but in this case we want to keep this bill the way it is.

CALANNI: Representative Murphy, were you aware that Texas paid out $18.5 million in superintendant severance packages from 2013 to 2017?

MURPHY: I think that's the very reason that Representative Davis brought this bill to stop that practice and to make sure that people dismissed for cause would not receive severance pay.

CALANNI: Representative Murphy, were you aware that in January 2017, Garland ISD paid out $686,000 in a severance package that was double the annual base salary of the superintendent?

MURPHY: I think the point of the bill is to make sure those things don't happen. And I think the amendment that we're seeking to remove—and we're talking here on the amendment, I think—is to say that this amendment makes it ambiguous and defeats the purpose for which the bill has been produced.

CALANNI: Representative Murphy, were you aware that in 2017, Johnson City ISD paid out $256,000, which was double the base salary, in a superintendent severance package while the district was struggling with an almost $1 million deficit?

MURPHY: I just want to go ahead and stipulate to the payments that you're going to continue asking about. Those payments are the reason we have this bill. And that amendment makes it hard to stop those payments from being made, which is why we're going to ask the members to remove this amendment and take this bill back to its original purpose which is to make sure that people dismissed for cause do not receive severance pay. It's a very simple bill. And with that, I move for adoption.

REPRESENTATIVE HUBERTY: Members, I would like you to pay attention to this. I appreciate what Ms. Calanni is suggesting. I'm going to give you the process that happened here. There were many bills that came through our committee that dealt with superintendents and malfeasance. We took a lot of testimony, as my colleagues—who are standing behind me—on the Public Education Committee know. Ms. Calanni had a bill that I asked her, when it came up, to amend. I asked her to work with TASB. She tried to. It didn't work out, and I said this bill that we ended up passing is Ms. Davis' bill. Ms. Davis has in the bill—if you read it, it deals with malfeasance. It deals with the exact problem that Ms. Calanni is trying to address. She had a superintendent in her district that for a very particular reason they're trying to deal with, and while I don't disagree that we have school boards that are awarding long-term severance contracts, what she was doing would create a problem for your superintendent. If they were to be hired, and let's say there was a board election and they just decided for some reason they didn't want that superintendent anymore, they could null and void their contract. There were problems with that, so we adopted Ms. Davis' bill.

I told this to Ms. Calanni. I told her that I did not pass her bill—we did not pass her bill—the committee did not pass her bill out of the committee for that exact reason. And as the chairman of a committee, for those of you who know, I am very fair in this process, and we look at policy not politics. And so as a result, when I found out this amendment got on, I went to Ms. Calanni. I said, "You need to take that amendment off tomorrow." She disagreed. So members, I'm asking you. Right now, the policy that we have is the policy we adopted out of the Public Education Committee, that all of the members voted for out of the Public Education Committee. We are passing a bill that we agreed as a committee that Ms. Davis had the best policy for public education. And let me tell you something else, her bill that was adopted is conflicting because it's in the same Education Code. And so what it says is at the top it tells you to do one thing, and then you go down to the next code and it tells you to do something completely different. So it's conflicting legislation. That is bad public policy. So members, I'm asking you to adopt this amendment on third reading, and then we will pass this bill, because this is good public policy.

CALANNI: I am in opposition to this. We did lay it out, and I thank you, Chairman Huberty, for allowing us to lay it out in committee. The senate companion piece was by Senator Campbell, and that passed in the senate 27 to 4 with this exact same language. In other states, two of the four largest states in our country have passed similar legislation, and two of them have limited the severance package to 20 weeks. This one limits it to one year. We all know that we came here for school finance reform. We came here because our schools are struggling. And by allowing superintendent severance packages to go out, that's money that could be going to our school districts for the kids and for the teachers, and that's taxpayer money. If you have a private sector situation where you want to pay out severance packages to the private sector, by all means you are fully entitled to do that. But taxpayer money should not be going out in these large golden parachutes to superintendents. That money belongs with our kids, it belongs with the teachers, and it belongs to the school district. It should not go out to superintendents. So I urge you, I urge you, to vote to keep the amendment on, which again, was passed 27 to 4 in the senate—27 to 4. So please keep the amendment on. Let's save our taxpayer money. Let's make sure our school districts are getting the money that they're supposed to have. When we have taxes come out of our property taxes, that money is for the schools. It's not to award superintendents that decide they don't want to be there anymore. If you don't want to do the job, that's fine. You don't get to take taxpayer money with you. I urge you to keep the amendment.

MURPHY: Members, I don't want you to be confused. I'm afraid that may be occurring here. The purpose of this bill by Representative Davis was to stop the very practice that Representative Calanni rails about here in front of you, which is superintendents being paid large severance packages after they're fired. That's not what we want to support, and that's why Representative Davis brought this bill forward. It's why Representative Huberty and the Public Education Committee chose that policy. That policy, if you remove this amendment, will be left intact, and we will be able to stop this practice where people are dismissed for cause and get a severance package. Now, if you keep this amendment on there, you're going to have a confusing bit of legislation that ensures the TEA has no idea what to do and that people, in fact, be rewarded for bad behavior because we didn't pay attention and we passed a bad amendment on second reading and failed to remove it on third reading. It's a lot to ask to remove an amendment on third reading. I recognize that. But at the same time, we don't want bad bills—which is what this is—added to a good bill, particularly at this stage of the session when we have a chance to finish this and do it right and get a good bill over to the senate. With that, members, I'm going to ask for your support for the amendment, and I'd be happy to yield for questions.

REPRESENTATIVE GOODWIN: So I guess there's a lot of confusion.

MURPHY: Absolutely.

GOODWIN: Can you please tell us exactly what the original bill does? And you're asking to remove an amendment that you're saying conflicts with the original bill?

MURPHY: It does. It introduces a new section of the code, so it points to two different places in the code. And it doesn't change anything fundamental about the bill in terms of people being paid or not being paid—under the bill as filed—severance packages when they're fired for cause. And that's what we're trying to fix. Representative Davis told us—and I'm sorry she's not here today—that the amendment she took yesterday she realized was a mistake. We've all seen this, right? Something sounds good, and it kind of seems in the spirit of what you're trying to do. You say, okay, I want to help out my colleagues. Let's all get along—except for certain people, I recognize that. But we want to make sure we get good legislation. And the spirit with which Representative Davis took on that amendment was the kind of thing I applaud. I'm glad we had it, but it was a mistake. It's bad for the bill, and it's bad policy.

GOODWIN: So does her bill keep us from paying superintendents who have been let go or fired a severance package?

MURPHY: Yes.

GOODWIN: And that's—

MURPHY: I mean, "yes" is a pretty clear answer, right?

GOODWIN: I'm getting conflicting messages. All right, thank you.

REPRESENTATIVE WU: Mr. Murphy, let me see if I can make sure I understand this. The original bill as Ms. Davis filed it would only stop severance packages if the principal was fired for cause, correct?

MURPHY: It applies to superintendents.

WU: Or superintendents.

MURPHY: Representative Wu, for cause if they engage in criminal or unethical conduct.

WU: And if the principal leaves on their own—they find a better job; they decide, you know what, I don't feel like doing this anymore or I don't want to answer these allegations that I've been bullying people—if they just leave on their own without being fired, they still get their severance package?

MURPHY: Someone who leaves voluntarily leaves their employment.

WU: So let's be absolutely clear about this. Under the original bill that's not amended, if they are fired for cause, they don't get it. But if they are leaving on their own, they will still get their package.

MURPHY: I think it's fair to say, Representative Wu, that people leave employment all the time.

WU: I'm sorry?

MURPHY: People leave employment all the time for various reasons.

WU: And so the decision now is deciding not whether they would lose their severance package if they got fired for cause but whether they would lose it if they just left on their own for whatever reason without getting fired.

MURPHY: Well, under current law TEA penalizes school districts that pay more than one year's salary with a severance tax. So there's already a penalty for that behavior.

REPRESENTATIVE MEZA: What I need clarified is—in my notes it says that there was a concern about the original bill, that the language as written was vague. There were concerns about the definition of malfeasance and the power the commissioner is given in the bill that takes away local control from school boards. But then my notes also say that the bill author intended to eliminate those concerns by offering an agreed-upon floor amendment. So is the floor amendment here a different amendment from the amendment that you're speaking to?

MURPHY: Representative Meza, great question, thank you. Representative Davis did adopt—well, we adopted—one amendment already on this bill. This is a second amendment.

MEZA: And so Davis' amendment addressed the concern about the vagueness of the term "malfeasance"?

MURPHY: That was the first amendment. Yes, ma'am.

MEZA: And so that one is not the amendment we're talking about today?

MURPHY: No, ma'am. This is the Calanni amendment.

HUBERTY: Mr. Murphy, thank you. I know Representative Davis had bad weather back in Houston, and she had to head home for some things. Ms. Davis and you and I spoke about this last night when she realized that when she took this amendment, she said as the bill author that she took it as acceptable to the author. Is that not correct?

MURPHY: That's correct. It was never really vetted.

HUBERTY: Right. And in addition to that, when she realized the amendment got onto the bill, I went and talked to her. And you're aware of that, are you not?

MURPHY: Oh, I am. In fact, I witnessed some of this.

HUBERTY: And you're also aware that Ms. Davis actually drafted the amendment to take it off of the bill. Is that not correct?

MURPHY: That's correct. That's how we have it.

HUBERTY: And you are aware that—and you and I are deskmates so we've talked about this—for public policy purposes, there's two different parts of the bill. They do two different things in the bill. In fact, I don't know if an author—it's not me—but I didn't know if the author could stand up there and call a point of order on their own bill. They can. The parliamentarian said I could. I don't want to do that. I don't want us to take this bill down, because I think it's good policy that we're creating to create malfeasance, criminal intent. Those are the things that we're trying to get at the superintendents, right? Is that not right?

MURPHY: I've got to say, Representative Huberty, I'm sort of surprised that we're about to stumble across the goal line and fumble at the same time.

HUBERTY: And Representative, you're aware, because I've told you this, that Ms. Calanni, when she came to our committee, and I did have multiple conversations. And the committee—some of my committee members are standing there and ones right here—we all discussed this. And we said, "We want to do something about this. We recognize it's a problem, but if you want to do this, you need to change your bill in this way." But at the end of the day, there were multiple bills dealing with superintendents, and we chose to pick one policy because that's what you have to do. You have to pick one policy to deal with an issue in the public Education Code. Is that not correct?

MURPHY: We as chairmen always have to decide what's the best vehicle to address these problems and shepherd it through.

HUBERTY: So help me just a little bit. I'm just a little bit at a loss. So the Public Education Committee—which vets good public policy and passed many bills, republican and democrat—chose what we thought to be a good policy with the right author. The author realizes she made a mistake in taking this amendment and now wants that amendment off her bill. But she's also said that if that didn't happen, she's willing to postpone the bill or kill the bill or just get rid of the policy.

MURPHY: Yes, and I think here we have a situation here where we have the perfect being the enemy of the good—or the perceived perfect. This amendment makes the bill ineffective, inoperable. And all the issues that you and your committee spent months on addressing and considering many, many vehicles to address are now going to be left unaddressed for another two years while the situation continues to occur throughout Texas.

HUBERTY: Yes. And while I'm not disputing the fact—and you're going to probably get questions from other members that are going to talk about, you know, a superintendent in some school district that did this and that and the other—we're not picking on one superintendent. What we're doing is we're creating a policy that's going to drive this as we go forward.

MURPHY: Well, and that very history that people bring up is the reason for which the bill exists. And it just emphasizes to me we need to get this amendment off and get this bill passed.

HUBERTY: Absolutely. And you know, in visiting with the parliamentarians, they said the bill got so screwed up by putting these two things together because it does two different things and you can't do that in the same Education Code. Thank you.

HB 2154 ON THIRD READING(by Landgraf, Craddick, Nevárez, Paddie, T. King, et al.)

HB 2154, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to a commission to study the needs of areas of the state significantly affected by oil and gas production.

HB 2154 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Craddick raised a point of order against further consideration of HB 2154 under Article III, Section 30, and Article III, Section 35, of the Texas Constitution. The point of order was sustained and the speaker submitted the following ruling:

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

on House Bill 2154

Announced in the House on May 10, 2019

Representative Craddick raises a point of order against further consideration of HB 2154 under Article III, Sections 30 and 35, of the Texas Constitution on the grounds that the original purpose of the bill has been changed and the bill contains more than one subject.

Mr. Craddick argues that the provision of the bill that repeals Section 316.093(e), Government Code, is not on the same subject as the bill's provisions establishing the GROW Texas task force and providing for the appointment of legislative committees to study issues related to oil and gas production.

Section 316.093(e), Government Code, which is repealed by the bill, relates to a requirement for the comptroller to adjust the allocation of certain amounts transferred to the economic stabilization and state highway funds. The subject of adjusting these allocations is not on the same subject as the bill. Thus, the bill contains more than one subject, in violation of the constitutional rule.

Accordingly, the point of order is well-taken and sustained.

The ruling precluded further consideration of the bill.
