ADDRESS BY REPRESENTATIVE KING

The chair recognized Representative King who addressed the house, speaking as follows:

I won't take too long, but this is an important announcement. Just bear with me for a moment. You should have all seen a teal pin on your desk. Teal is the color of ovarian cancer. We have a tradition in this house that goes back to 2015 where we wear teal on Tuesdays to show our support not only in the fight against ovarian cancer but women's health overall. The KK125 Ovarian Cancer Research Foundation was created by myself and former colleague and friend Kyle Kacal with the help of many of you in this room. The purpose of the foundation is early detection. If you are in a battle against cancer, early detection is your best shot at beating it. We've raised a lot of money to that end over the years. We also do patient advocacy, and we also give specific money for that research. So no money that we raise through the foundation ever builds a parking lot. It goes directly to a cancer center for the purpose of women's health and ovarian cancer.

The history of this foundation is sad, but it's turned into a positive. Back in 2013, three very special ladies lost their lives to ovarian cancer—my mom, Paulette King, died of ovarian cancer; my friend and former colleague Kyle Kacal lost his mom, Linda Kacal, to the same disease; and a friend to many in this Capitol, Andrea Sloan. Back in 2013, members, we did not know anything about ovarian cancer. There were no answers. We created the foundation to start getting some. Cancer research has come a long way. Some of the things this chamber has helped do—back in 2015, there was one blood test known to the cancer community that could early detect ovarian cancer. It was called a CA125, hence the name KK125. So if my mother had had a CA125 four years before her diagnosis, she would likely be with us today. It is that important. Early detection matters. So what we did is we changed the law to make a CA125 part of a well-woman exam as an insurable item. The earlier we know, the more we can do.

Technology has changed. Other tests were developed in the last 10 years. I've got to thank my friend Dr. Bonnen—I don't know where he's at—but Dr. Bonnen and Senator Huffman took up that fight last session and expanded that law to include all tests for the purpose of early detection as an insurable item. That saves lives. It's transformational. I can't tell you how much that means that the work we started 10 years ago is still going on today.

Right to Try is another thing we've addressed in this chamber. And this didn't just happen in this chamber. It had full support from the senate and the governor. Governor Abbott has been with us every step of the way since 2015. So Right to Try is important because prior to 2015, if you were diagnosed with a disease and the drug your doctor wanted to give you was approved for a different disease, they couldn't give it to you—it was illegal. We changed that. Now your treatment is between you and your doctor. But there's more work to be done. I filed a bill today to that end, and I hope you will join me as we go through this journey and expand patient advocacy and give every person the right to fight these horrible diseases.

Members, when I got elected, I never thought I would stand before you as an advocate for women's health. It was never in the cards. I never thought about it. The Lord works in mysterious ways. My mother's favorite scripture was Proverbs 3:5: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding." You don't know where your journey in the legislature is going to take you. Be open to it, and you'll be surprised the difference you're going to make. Lastly, I just want to say, if you're lucky enough to still have your mom, hug her every day. It's that important. I hope you will join with me the rest of the session and wear teal on Tuesdays to show your support not just in the fight against ovarian cancer but women's health overall. Join me in this fight. Join me in protecting all the ovaries because without them none of us would be here.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Walle moved to print remarks by Representative King.

The motion prevailed.

ADDRESS BY REPRESENTATIVE RICHARDSON

The chair recognized Representative Richardson who addressed the house, speaking as follows:

I am a survivor of ovarian cancer. Nine years ago, I was told that I had six months to live by nine different oncologists, MD Anderson, and UT Southwestern. They told me to put my affairs in order—six months to live. My tumor was between eight and 10 pounds, the size of a full-term baby. I refused chemotherapy. They looked at me like I was crazy. During my battle, I claimed the scripture Psalm 188:17: "I shall not die but live, and declare the works of the Lord." So I stand before you today to tell you that God does still work miracles. My purpose in sharing this is the story is not about me. It is to give hope to those who have been diagnosed. It is to thank those who are in this battle—the medical professionals and the caregivers who are fighting this battle. It is to thank them. God bless you, and God bless your efforts.

ADDRESS BY REPRESENTATIVE CAIN

The chair recognized Representative Cain who addressed the house, speaking as follows:

Yesterday marked 189 years since William Barret Travis wrote his famous "Victory or Death" letter. On February 24, 1836, with the garrison surrounded and the Texan Army at the Alamo outnumbered, William B. Travis wrote one of the most famous letters in American history. The following words were written 189 years and one day ago:

"Commandancy of the Alamo, Bejar, February 24, 1836.

Fellow citizens and compatriots—

I am besieged by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna. I have sustained a continual bombardment and cannonade for 24 hours and have not lost a man. The enemy has demanded a surrender at its discretion, otherwise the garrison are to be put to the sword if the fort is taken. I have answered the demand with a cannon shot, and our flag still waves proudly from the walls. I shall never surrender or retreat. Then I call on you in the name of liberty, of patriotism, and everything dear to the American character to come to our aid with all dispatch. The enemy is receiving reinforcements daily and will no doubt increase to 3,000 or 4,000 in four or five days. If this call is neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible and die like a soldier who never forgets what is due to his own honor and that of his country—Victory or Death.

William Barret Travis

Lieutenant Colonel, Commandant."

COMMITTEE ON HOUSE ADMINISTRATION COMMITTEE RULES

Under House Rule 5, Section 20

Rule 1. PURPOSE. Pursuant to House Rule 4, Section 13(a), the Committee on House Administration adopts these rules to implement House Rule 5, Section 20, and all relevant House policies adopted by the committee related to the accreditation of media representatives.

Rule 2. EXECUTIVE AGENT. The Executive Director of the House Business Office is designated as the committee's executive agent for the processing and approval of applications by individuals for accreditation as media representatives. The executive director may delegate a responsibility to any House Business Office employee as needed to ensure efficiency.

Rule 3. REVIEW OF APPLICATIONS FOR ACCREDITATION; APPROVAL OR REFUSAL. (a) Based on the application, accompanying materials, and any facts of which a court could take judicial notice under the Texas Rules of Evidence, the executive director shall determine whether the applicant meets the requirements for accreditation under House Rule 5, Section 20, and shall approve or refuse the application.

(b) The executive director shall complete the review of each application not later than the 10th business day after the date the application is received.

(c) If the application is approved, the executive director shall issue the pass card to the applicant, under House Rule 5, Section 20(d).

(d) The executive director shall refuse an application if the complete record does not:

(1) contain enough information for the executive director to make a determination; or

(2) support a determination that the applicant is qualified for accreditation under this section.

(e) If the executive director refuses an application under Subsection (d)(1), the executive director may request the applicant to provide additional information to enable the making of a determination. The applicant must provide the additional information requested by the executive director not later than the 5th business day after the date of the request for additional information. If the applicant does not provide the additional information as required under this subsection, the executive director's refusal operates as the committee's refusal, is final, and is not subject to further review.

The applicant may file a complaint to appeal the refusal and request a public hearing before the committee on the complaint.

(1) approved;

(2) refused because of insufficient information;

(3) refused because the applicant did not meet the requirements for accreditation; and

(4) refused by operation of rule.

Rule 5. FILING A COMPLAINT. (a) An individual entitled to file a complaint under House Rule 5, Section 20(g), must file the complaint with the committee clerk.

A complaint may be filed by mail, electronic communication, fax, or by hand delivery to the committee clerk.

(c) The complaint must state:

(1) the name of the aggrieved individual or House member submitting the complaint, best contact telephone number and e-mail, and, for an aggrieved individual, the name of the aggrieved individual's employing news organization and the name of the aggrieved individual's supervisor, if any; and

(2) in plain and concise language, all facts upon which the complaint is based and that are necessary to support the complainant's request for committee action.

(d) An allegation in a complaint that is evidentiary or a legal conclusion is not grounds for dismissal if fair notice to the committee is given by the allegations as a whole.

(e) A complaint shall be filed and perfected not later than the 10th business day after the date:

(1) the executive director refuses an application; or

(2) the House member discovers or should have discovered facts supporting the allegation that a media representative:

(A) does not meet the requirements for accreditation; or

(B) has abused the privileges accorded under House Rule 5, Section 20.

(f) A complaint may be withdrawn by an aggrieved individual or a House member at any time. A withdrawn complaint may be refiled before the expiration of the period specified under Subsection (e).

(g) Before the expiration of the period specified under Subsection (e), a complaint may be amended by the aggrieved individual or House member to cure technical defects or omissions or to clarify and amplify allegations made.

(h) Upon the request of the aggrieved individual or House member, the chair shall advise the aggrieved individual or House member, as appropriate, of the status of a complaint.

(2) include an appendix of all evidence supporting the facts contained in the report.

(e) The chair shall direct the delivery of the report to the committee members promptly upon completion.

Rule 7. REPRESENTATION. The aggrieved individual or subject of a complaint may be represented by an individual licensed to practice law in this state or another designated agent.

(b) A person served with a subpoena issued by the committee who does not intend to comply may petition the chair in writing to revoke or modify the subpoena not later than the 5th business day after the date the person receives the subpoena. A petition shall identify separately each portion of the subpoena with which the petitioner does not intend to comply and for each portion, shall state the grounds upon which the petitioner relies. A copy of the subpoena shall be attached to the petition. The committee shall review the petition and make a final determination on whether to revoke or modify the subpoena. The chair shall provide, by electronic communication, a copy of the final determination on the petition to the petitioner.

(d) Discovery by an aggrieved individual or subject of a complaint is not permitted, except as ordered by the committee. The committee shall provide an aggrieved individual with the record relied upon by the executive director in approving or refusing an application.

Rule 9. DISMISSAL OF COMPLAINT BEFORE REASONABLE CAUSE DETERMINATION. (a) The committee may dismiss a complaint if the complaint:

(1) is not filed timely; or

(2) fails to state sufficient facts to support or otherwise give fair notice of the complaint under House Rule 5, Section 20.

(b) Before dismissing a complaint under Subsection (a)(2) that was filed by an aggrieved individual, the aggrieved individual shall be notified and given a reasonable time to respond.

Rule 10. DUE PROCESS HEARING. (a) The chair, in consultation with the members of the committee, shall set the time and place for a public hearing on a complaint not later than the 10th business day after the date on which the complaint is received. The chair shall issue a notice of hearing to the aggrieved individual or subject of a complaint that must include a statement of the time and place of the hearing.

(b) The hearing shall be conducted in the same manner as a contested case hearing under Chapter 2001, Government Code, and is confidential to the extent provided under House Rule 4, Section 12; Title 3, Government Code; and other law.

Rule 11. ACTION AFTER DUE PROCESS HEARING. (a) After a due process hearing, the committee shall determine if the allegations contained in the complaint are valid. The committee shall prepare a final written determination that includes findings of fact and conclusions of law supporting the determination and authorizing an action required to be taken under House Rule 5, Section 20(h).

(b) If the committee is unable to agree on a final determination or has an insufficient number of votes to adopt a final determination, the committee chair shall submit a statement of this fact to the House.

(c) The committee shall deliver a copy of its final determination to the aggrieved individual or, for a complaint filed by a House member, to the House member and subject of the complaint, and, if the house is convened in a regular or special session, to the Journal Clerk for printing in the Journal.

Rule 13. ELECTION OF REMEDIES. A person who has initiated an action in a court of competent jurisdiction or who has an action pending before an administrative agency under other law based on an act that would be a violation of law or the House Rules related to accreditation of media representatives may not file a complaint under these rules for the same subject matter.
