The invocation was offered by Reverend Jimmy Drennan, Saint Paul's Catholic Church, San Antonio, as follows:

I invite you to bow your heads in prayer. Blessed are you Lord, God of all creation. It is through your goodness that we gather this very day. As we gather, we first pause for a moment to thank you for all we have and all you have given us. We praise you for the many gifts you continually give to your people. We acknowledge that without you nothing is possible. We further recognize the wrong choices we have made and seek to be reconciled with you and with each other.

As we unite ourselves this day we recognize that we are only one part of the larger reality that exists. We understand the world is so much like a mosaic and we, like so many other people, are an essential part and not the only part of your plan. In coming to value our unique and shared role in society, give us the strength to appreciate others. Give us courage to value people because they are different from us, not simply because they are like us. Give us the strength to find our unity in our diversity.

Loving God and creator, as elected officials and all those who assist them with their decisions gather in this historic space, inspire them to recognize they are the makers of history. The events that will unfold this day and the decisions that are made here will become the history of tomorrow. We are the authors of history and the choices made in this hall of justice will be inscribed in the lives of every Texan. They will be forever written on and lived out by the young and the old; the rich and the poor; African American, Asian American, Native American, white, and hispanic; the native born and the immigrant; the heterosexual and the homosexual; the educated and the uneducated; weak and strong; healthy and unhealthy; the insured and the uninsured; and people of all religious traditions. Inspire the authors of today to write with justice—justice for all people. Inspire our authors to abandon unjust partisanship and embrace a unified vision that will positively change the lives of all Texans. Move us away from division and to our true unity.

And Lord, as we gather in the shelter of these walls and in the State of Texas that we are so proud of, we pray for peace. We pray for an end to war and a complete restoration of lasting peace through justice. We offer our united prayers for the men and women of every nation who have been sent by their elected officials to fight in wars. We pray for their safe return to their nations and families. Give strength to their families and renew their faith in the hope for peace.

May the generations who follow us and reflect on the history that is to be written here today be inspired by your choices. May our generation be thanked and remembered fondly for the history we write. Inspire us to remember always, we are the authors of history. We can decide how this day ends. Give each of us the strength and courage to remember this. We ask this in your name, you who inspire us and lead us now, always, and forever.

Reyna (present), who would vote no, with Harper-Brown (absent), who would vote yes.

D. Jones (present), who would vote no, with West (absent), who would vote yes.

STATEMENT OF VOTE

When Record No. 121 was taken, I was in the house but away from my desk. I would have voted no.

Hilderbran

REASONS FOR VOTE

As state representative for District 138, I will support school finance reform, which achieves all of the following five principles: 1) Protects local community control including local enrichment; 2) Significantly reduces local school property taxes and lowers the annual appraisal cap; 3) Properly funds the needs of present and future classroom excellence and teacher benefits; 4) Avoids court mandated control of our schools; and 5) Is supported by the citizens of District 138. I acknowledge that HB 2 and HB 3 are a work-in-progress toward achieving these goals for educational reform and property tax relief. I look forward to continuing the legislative process and working with the state senate as we move toward crafting a final version of these bills, which will achieve the goals outlined above.

Bohac

This bill does not cure inequities in the business tax system in this state and may exacerbate them. The business tax aspects of HB 3 were originally alleged to be a "closing of the franchise tax loophole," but in fact the bill sent to the house floor imposed a labor-intensive tax in the form of a new payroll tax. The inequities of such a scheme becoming clear to all concerned, the authors adopted amendments on the floor to try and mitigate the bill by allowing businesses to opt between the new payroll tax or a "franchise tax" option. But the option still has the effect of treating marginal, labor-intensive businesses unfairly.

Large capital-intensive businesses—involving in many instances much wealthier enterprises with relatively few employees—will reap the effects of a property tax reduction windfall while at the same time not sharing equitably with small businesses in any significant new tax burden. Many small businesses, that create the bulk of minimum wage and skilled jobs in the service sector, such as restaurants, auto repair shops, etc., that perhaps lease their business premises will be saddled with either a new franchise tax, or worse, a payroll tax that will serve as a significant disincentive for them to expand their employee payrolls. Even if they opt for the franchise tax, the new tax burden compared to their gross receipts will be significant. The same will not be true with many larger, wealthier, capital-intensive businesses.

The bill, therefore, does not move us in the direction of a fairer business tax, nor does it truly serve to close the "franchise tax loophole," and for that reason, I cannot vote for the bill.

Keel

One of my goals this session was to vote in favor of legislation that would provide significant property tax relief to the people of Plano and the people of Texas. HB 3 lowers property taxes but unfortunately at a much greater price to Texans.

HB 3 will not benefit a majority of taxpayers. An analysis by the Legislative Budget Board found that under this legislation, eight of ten income levels would pay significantly higher taxes overall than under current law. Of the two levels seeing some relief, the savings would be negligible. Additionally, Texas will have the highest sales tax rate in the nation while also subjecting additional items and services to the sales tax such as bottled water, automobile repairs, car washes, billboard advertising, etc. HB 3 imposes an additional increase in sales tax on items like soft drinks and snacks while also increasing the sales tax rate for large ticket items such as automobiles and boats.

HB 3 will also detrimentally affect the business community in my district and across the state by imposing potentially unconstitutional taxes on them. This legislation asks companies to choose between a new payroll tax on wages or paying the franchise tax. This portion of the bill raises constitutional questions since this tax is essentially an income tax but will not be put before voters prior to being implemented. In fact, the constitutionality of this provision is so likely to be questioned that the house adopted an amendment expediting any future case directly to the Texas Supreme Court.

When the Texas Legislature promises its citizens tax relief, it should do so in a way that truly provides relief. HB 3 merely shifts taxes from one kind to another and in a way that actually increases the tax burden to both businesses and consumers.

McCall

The explanation of "pairs" in House Rule 5, Section 50 states that "where two members are paired on a vote, the member present agrees with a member who is to be absent that the member present will not vote, but will be "present and not voting." The pair states how each of the members would have voted. I agreed to a pairing with an absent member. I actually voted NO on HB 3, but was shown present and not voting according to the rules.
