The invocation was offered by the Most Reverend Michael Pfeifer, Catholic Diocese of San Angelo, as follows:

Good morning. Buenas dias. My dear sisters and brothers, people of God united in a spirit of faith, hope, and love, as we gather here today we humbly pray and proclaim—and please pray with me in a loud voice—God bless America; God bless the State of Texas. God has indeed blessed America and the beautiful State of Texas, and God will continue to bless us if we open our minds and hearts to be the kind of people that God calls us to be and to do what God asks us to do.

This is a defining moment in the history of our beautiful country and the great State of Texas. As we deal with the recognition that a few but loud voices more and more want to eliminate God from our public discussion and lives, and in the face of escalating violence in our world, country, and even the State of Texas, as people of God, we must renew our efforts to base all of our decisions on the God-given principles of the Ten Commandments and to escalate love. We must never become the evil that we want to eradicate. If we want the true peace that our world, our country, and our state so much need and that we all seek, we must work for justice, justice based on the rule of law and precepts of our Judeo-Christian traditions. The spirit of evil can only be overcome by love.

So let us pray "blessed are the peace-makers; they shall be called children of God." (Matthew 5:9) Loving God, Father, and creator, we give you praise and glory with our presence here today, with our prayer, and the service that we have the privilege of giving you as citizens and leaders of the State of Texas. We thank you for your countless blessings, both material and spiritual, that are poured out upon us each day like the gentle rain.

Father, we ask that you send the Holy Spirit upon your servants of the people of the State of Texas who begin this new day of reflection and service as they gather here for deliberation, discussion, and decisions for the common good of the people they serve. May they always show a special concern for the poor, our children, and the elderly. May this great spirit guide them with wisdom and truth, with light and justice, with knowledge and courage.

God our Father, bring peace to our world, bring an end to war and watch over our military personnel. Loving God, as you desire justice for all we ask that you enable these elected servants to uphold the rights of others and do not allow them to be misled by ignorance, selfish interest, or corrupted by fear or favor. Unite them to yourself in the bonds of respect, understanding, and love and keep them faithful to all that is true. Amen. "Justice will bring about peace; right will produce calm and security." (Isaiah 32:17) We ask this in the name of Jesus the Lord. Amen.

The speaker recognized Representative Darby who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.
