The invocation was offered by Rabbi Andrew Marc Paley, senior rabbi, Temple Shalom, Dallas, as follows:

It is an often chaotic and tempestuous world in which we live; uncertainty, fear, doubt, and despair abound. Hope, encouragement, and blessing seem distant and difficult to feel, and yet we know that the Almighty desires exactly that from each of us, each and every day. We know that the struggles to unlock the chains of wickedness and untie the cords of lawlessness are our charge—to be a part of the struggle to let the oppressed go free and to break off every yoke. We know that it is our struggle to banish from our midst the menacing hand and evil speech. We know it is our struggle to offer compassion to the hungry, the needy, the stranger. And when we do, then shall the light of the Holy One shine amid the darkness.

Therefore, O guardian of life and liberty, may these brave men and women of the Texas House of Representatives, these fine examples of courage and compassion from every corner of the great State of Texas, always merit your guidance and protection. Teach them to give thanks for what they have by sharing it with those who are in need. Keep their eyes open to the wonders of creation and alert to the care of the Earth. May they never be lazy in the work of peace and may we, together, honor those who have died in defense of our ideals. Grant these incredible leaders wisdom and forbearance. May they govern with justice and compassion. Help all of us to appreciate one another and to respect the many ways that we may be of service to Texas and to the Almighty. May our homes be safe from affliction and strife and our state be sound in body and spirit. Amen.
