The speaker recognized Representative Murr who introduced Reverend James Barker II, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Junction, who offered the invocation as follows:

Loving God, we pray today for the leaders of this state. Strengthen the courage of the representatives assembled here, these sincere women and men who want to do what is right, if only they can be sure what is right. Make what is right and true plain to them. Give them divine common sense and a selflessness that makes them think of service and why they answered this call.

Make us, the citizens of Texas, want to do the right things. Make us long to have right attitudes. Let all that we do and say spring out of understanding hearts. Make us willing to seek moral objectives together, that in united action we may do what is best for all the residents of this state.

Today, help these representatives to seize opportunities and fulfill their duties to the best of their abilities. Engender a spirit of cooperation so that the good of Texas is the result of the work done in these rooms and halls. Make us humble stewards and remind us of the important things that have been entrusted to us. "Give to us clear vision that we may know where to stand and what to stand for—because unless we stand for something, we shall fall for anything" (Reverend Peter Marshall, Chaplain of the United States Senate, April 18, 1947).

Just as you established and preserved this great State of Texas, now mold us into a people more worthy of this great heritage. In thy strong name, we make these prayers. Amen.

The speaker recognized Representative Gervin-Hawkins who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.
