Eternal God, our creator and the giver of every good gift, we commend our nation and our state to your mercy so that we may live securely in peace and be guided by your providential care. Make us to always remember your generosity and constantly eager to do your will. Bless our state and nation with an increasing appetite for the virtues of hard work, kindness, mutual respect, and an overall honorable way of life. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. When times are prosperous, let our hearts be thankful; and in troubled times, do not let our trust in you fail.

Eternal God, please give those to whom we have entrusted with the authority of government, and particularly this house of representatives, the spirit of divine wisdom and discernment so that justice and peace for all will increase and abound. Watch over this house of representatives. Protect them, their families, and their staffs in every way with your abiding presence. In all things, may your will be done. With respect for all, I pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

The speaker recognized Representative Frank who led the house in the pledges of allegiance to the United States and Texas flags.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

REPRESENTATIVE CAIN: What constitutes a precedent?

SPEAKER STRAUS: Mr. Cain, something that's happened before.

CAIN: Are there categories of precedent here in the house?

SPEAKER: The Texas House has never taken a definitive position on that.

CAIN: Would you say that the ruling on a point of order is a precedent?

SPEAKER: They might be, yes.

CAIN: Are the answers to parliamentary inquiries precedents?

SPEAKER: They might be.

CAIN: Can the answer to a parliamentary inquiry overrule a line of precedents from decisions on points of order?

SPEAKER: Mr. Cain, we take these items as they come up.

CAIN: Can a custom of the house overrule decisions of the chair?

SPEAKER: Mr. Cain, we take the items as they come up. Thank you.

CAIN: If the rules are silent or inexplicit on any question of order or parliamentary practice, do the rules of the Texas House provide for a means of resolving that matter?

SPEAKER: The clerk will now read Rule 14, Section 1.

CAIN: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. That is all.

REMARKS ORDERED PRINTED

Representative Cain moved to print remarks between the speaker and Representative Cain.

The motion prevailed.
