Our Father in heaven, we stand before you today with praise on our lips and thanksgiving in our hearts. We acknowledge you as the author and giver of life, both temporal and eternal. We thank you today for a fresh opportunity to enjoy the blessings of life. We thank you for the freedoms you have entrusted to us as Americans. We thank you for the incredible past stories of our great State of Texas. We thank you for the irresistible future of our great state. We thank you for the leadership you have provided, for Governor Abbott, Lieutenant Governor Patrick, and for Speaker Bonnen. Thank you for the men and women who comprise this Texas House of Representatives.

I pray that you would give them, as you did Joshua of ancient times, strength and courage as they face the challenges of our days. May you give them wisdom, knowledge, and discernment in all their decisions, and may they view these challenges as opportunities. May they be guided by your truth and by principles of righteousness, justice, and honesty. May you add your blessings to their work and to their lives and families. I pray for each of these, as the scripture instructs us, that they may guide us in ways that allow all Texans to lead a peaceful and quiet life, godly and dignified in every way. Help each of us to be mindful of the day we will all stand before you and give an account of our lives and actions. May that day prove to be a day when each one of us will hear the voice of our master echo these words, "Well done, good and faithful servant. Enter thou into the joy of thy master." We offer our lives, our country, our state, this house, and our prayer to you. In the name of our risen Lord Jesus Christ, may you bless our great State of Texas. Amen.

COMMITTEE MEETING ANNOUNCEMENT

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

REPRESENTATIVE MARTINEZ FISCHER: I'm looking at Rule 4, Section 39, and I have some questions regarding committee amendments. My first question is, Mr. Speaker, in understanding this rule it's very clear to me—

SPEAKER BONNEN: Mr. Martinez Fischer, that's not a proper parliamentary inquiry. There is no business before the house.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: I'm sorry, Mr. Speaker?

SPEAKER: There is no business before the house.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: And this inquiry is out of order on a clarification of Rule 4, Section 39?

SPEAKER: That is correct. Parliamentary inquiries relate to the pending business before the body or business that may be before the body.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: What is the process by which a member could seek clarification on the interpretation and process in the house practice of the rules?

SPEAKER: If it's related to the pending business, you can raise a parliamentary inquiry.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: If the parliamentary inquiry is related to a committee and a committee amendment, is it in the committee where the parliamentary inquiry is proper? And if it is, who would be presiding over that inquiry?

SPEAKER: If it's related to a committee amendment, you can ask a parliamentary inquiry of the committee chair. And you're also welcome to visit with the parliamentarians at any time.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: If the inquiry requires or would necessitate a ruling from the chair—and I guess in that instance it would be the committee chair—is there anyone to advise the committee chair on that ruling?

SPEAKER: Yes, it would be the parliamentarians who would be available to advise the chair.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: Okay, and so just for my purposes, what is the best way by which we need to ensure that the house parliamentarian is available to make that requisite ruling, given the number of committees and the overlapping committee times and so forth?

SPEAKER: You can call the parliamentarians' office at 3-2003, and they will be available to the best of their ability.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: And just in terms of the house practice for that, Mr. Speaker, in the event that that inquiry is made to the parliamentarians' office and they happen to be disposing of another similar matter or something of other urgent business, is the committee to wait at ease until the parliamentarian is available?

SPEAKER: That's not a proper parliamentary inquiry. You can visit with the parliamentarians' office.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: Mr. Speaker, parliamentary inquiry related to Rule 4, Section 40, I would imagine, as it relates to committee substitutes—is it the same response as it was for Section 39?

SPEAKER: Correct. It's not a proper parliamentary inquiry.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: And Mr. Speaker, just for my evening reading, could you give me the rule regarding the inappropriateness of this parliamentary inquiry so that I can become more familiar with it and I will be learned for the next time?

SPEAKER: You can review Mason's, Section 250-1.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: Is there a house rule?

SPEAKER: Rule 1, Section 9.

MARTINEZ FISCHER: Okay, thank you, so Rule 1, Section 9. And if you'd give me the Mason's section, I'd appreciate that.

SPEAKER: Section 250-1.
