MOMENT OF SILENCE OBSERVED

REPRESENTATIVE LEACH: None of us prepare to respond to situations and tragedies like this. None of us can prepare, or ever hope to have to make remarks in this chamber in response to these tragedies, but here we are today. I wanted to take this opportunity to respond to the horrific and tragic events that occurred in my hometown of Allen, Texas, this weekend.

Members, when I left here from the chamber at about 3 p.m. on Saturday afternoon—as we were finishing our business—and boarded my flight home to Allen, I began receiving reports that there was an active-shooter situation at the Allen Premium Outlets about a mile from where I live in the city that I'm proud to represent with Representative Plesa and Representative Noble in Allen, Texas. By the time that I landed, 35 minutes later, it was confirmed that—at that time—the lives of six Texans, six of my constituents, were lost. Now that number is at nine. There's still at least a few in critical condition in hospitals in Collin County.

So I don't want to belabor the point this morning, really. As I thought about what I would want to say here, there's really not a whole lot to say. We don't know much right now. I will tell you that law enforcement—I was on the scene. As I landed and got in my truck, I drove right to the scene and was blown away—not surprised—but blown away at the heroic response. I saw it firsthand with my own eyes, the heroic response of our men and women in law enforcement. Over 18 law enforcement agencies—federal, state, and local—responded to this tragedy. They're still investigating. There's still a lot we don't know. And I wanted to allow time before responding—as we so often do in these situations—responding with talking points or reactions, political statements.

There will be time for debates and deliberations and responses, but we want to, of course—and I will never apologize, nor should any of us apologize, for praying for our fellow Texans who are hurt, who right now in some cases are fighting for their very lives, who have in some cases lost everything, have had their lives upended. I'm not going to apologize or shy away from praying for and asking God to comfort them and to do what only our great God can do. And that's to supernaturally show up in our deepest, deepest times of hurt. I hope you'll join me. I know this body well enough to know that you will.

So there's a lot we don't know, but one thing that I do know—and I'm in my sixth term now, I won't belabor the point, I'm in my sixth term in this house. I don't know how much longer I'm going to be doing this. It's been the blessing of my life to get to serve in this body with each of you and to stand here and to fight for my values and advocate for my constituents. And for as long as I serve here in the Texas House, that's what I'm going to continue to do. But increasingly, I'm finding freedom and saying what I think. And so I'm going to say something this morning: There's a lot we don't know, but one thing I do know is that this is happening way too much. And it doesn't have to be this way. I don't have the answers. I don't have a bill in front of you. I'm not sure there are any bills in front of us this morning, this session, that could have prevented this. I don't know. I don't know. But I do know that it doesn't have to be this way. And I also know that if there is any deliberative body anywhere in the world that can discuss and deliberate on these issues thoughtfully—all of the potential solutions that we discuss—if there's any deliberatively body anywhere in the world that can do it, it's this house. I believe that with all my heart. And I hope that despite our disagreements—and we'll have them and we welcome them—that we will respond boldly, swiftly, and smartly. We will do everything that we possibly can to address this head on. I'm so grateful for our law enforcement. I'm grateful for our state leaders: Governor Abbott's leadership has been incredible—showing up in our community last night; our speaker in committing the full resources of this house and state government.

Members, I would ask that you can commit to praying with me for the victims and their families. I do know of one little boy. I don't know a whole lot about the victims right now, but I do know of one little boy. His name is William. William's in kindergarten—might be in first grade, he's young. And he is still in the hospital in critical condition the last I heard. And whenever he wakes up—of course we're prayerful that he recovers. And if and when he does, he's going to find out that his mom and dad and his little sister are gone. So members, I believe in a great God who meets us at the point of our need, who grants us wisdom when we ask for it, and I know that this body will ask for wisdom and we'll respond courageously.

Mr. Speaker, I would request that on behalf of the victims in my community in Allen, who I love serving, that we would observe a moment of silence in the Texas House.

REPRESENTATIVE HINOJOSA: Thank you, Representative Talarico. I think it's so important that you are proposing an amendment to create some guardrails, just like we have guardrails for everybody we let into our schools to interact with our children. That's what you're doing with this amendment, is that correct?

TALARICO: That's correct.

HINOJOSA: We know that there are some unscrupulous characters who don't have our kids' best interest at heart, and we want to ensure that those people aren't having access to our kids inside our schools. Isn't that correct?

TALARICO: That's correct.

HINOJOSA: I appreciate your amendment, thank you.

Amendment No. 1 was adopted.

Amendment No. 2

Representative Wu offered the following amendment to SB 763:

Amend SB 763 (house committee report) on page 1, between lines 15 and 16, by inserting the following appropriately numbered section:

Sec. 23. . PROHIBITED USE OF PUBLIC FUNDS. A school district or open-enrollment charter school may not use public funds to compensate a chaplain under this chapter.

AMENDMENT NO. 2 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE WU: This amendment simply says that public funds for public education should stay in the public realm. That if these chaplains are to be compensated, it should come from private sources or come from private organizations, and we should not use public monies to compensate religious services.

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: This just completely messes up the purpose of the bill. We want schools, if they so choose, to be able to hire chaplains or accept them as volunteers, and so I ask you to oppose this amendment.

WU: The bill itself says these are volunteers. Now, I'm not sure what everyone's definition of "volunteer" is, but to me a volunteer is someone who does not accept compensation for what they're doing. If we're now saying that, "No, we actually intended to compensate these chaplains to do this work," then they're not really volunteers, are they? So if you want this bill to say that these are actually volunteers who are giving their time and efforts for free to help schools and help students, then you need this amendment. If not, then we are saying that these are not volunteers in reality.

Amendment No. 3

Representative Talarico offered the following amendment to SB 763:

Amend SB 763 (house committee report) as follows:

(1) On page 1, between lines 15 and 16, insert the following:

(a) a chaplain employed or volunteering under this chapter must meet all existing requirements for employees or volunteers.

(2) On page 1, between lines 14 and 15, insert the following:

Sec. 23.003. CONSENT REQUIRED FOR SCHOOL CHAPLAIN SERVICES. A school chaplain employed by a school district or open-enrollment charter school under this chapter may not provide support, services, or programs to a student enrolled in the district or school unless the district or school obtains from the student's parent or guardian written consent for the support, services, or programs.

Sec. 23.004. REGULATION OF SCHOOL CHAPLAINS. (a) The commissioner by rule shall establish standards of conduct for school chaplains. The standards of conduct must:

(1) require a school chaplain to:

(A) protect the free exercise of religion of a student, a student's parent or guardian, and other public school employees;

(B) refrain from proselytizing or imposing the chaplain's values and beliefs on a student, a student's parent or guardian, or other public school employees;

(C) respect the cultural, ethnic, gender, racial, and religious diversity of students and other public school employees; and

(D) respectfully, professionally, and promptly refer a student to another professional who can directly provide for the needs of the student if the chaplain is unable to support a specific need of the student due to the chaplain's religious beliefs.

(2) Renumber the SECTIONS of the bill accordingly.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE TALARICO: This amendment would require parental consent before a child can meet with the chaplain on campus. This session has been all about parental rights, so this would just ensure that parents are protected in this process, and before they meet with a school chaplain they would have to receive that parental consent.

REPRESENTATIVE HINOJOSA: We know, especially when it comes to religion, we should defer to parents for that permission when it comes to having that kind of access to our kids. Is that the aim of your amendment?

TALARICO: Yes, that's what I believe. I think that's what most members of the body believe.

HINOJOSA: Another part of the amendment that I really appreciate is the standards of conduct for a chaplain. We want to ensure that all faiths are appreciated and welcomed by this chaplain who stands in a position of authority in our schools, and that the chaplain refrains from proselytizing or imposing the chaplain's values or beliefs or religion on a student. That's what your amendment says, isn't that correct?

TALARICO: That's right. This amendment does not gut this bill, and this amendment does not undermine this bill. All we're trying to do is add some belts and some suspenders to this bill and make sure there are appropriate guardrails to protect our students. Like with many things, we require parental consent before a child can participate in a program or meet with a certain adult on campus. We're just applying those same guardrails to this legislation.

HINOJOSA: I appreciate those guardrails. Especially because one of the groups that came before our committee that was pushing for this bill was a group that has as its stated purpose, to enhance "His presence by infiltrating the system and supporting Christians functioning and operating inside the school system." Which I believe to be unconstitutional, and not appreciated as a parent, that our schools would be indoctrinating our kids on any kind of religion. And so I appreciate that. The second part that I have seen of this organization that's pushing this bill—it says from their profile on their website, "The strategy is simple: leverage one of the largest networks on the earth, the existing school system, and utilize government funding along with your donation, to teach Jesus in the classroom." That's unconstitutional, isn't it, Representative Talarico?

TALARICO: I believe it is, and I think we should all be concerned with any organization whose stated purpose is to infiltrate our public schools. Like many of you, I believe education should be just about that—education and not indoctrination.

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: I think we can trust our school districts to make the decisions on the regulations they'll put on our chaplains. We currently don't do these kind of regulations on our school counselors and this has in here the Department of Education to establish regulations, and I want to leave it in the school districts.

TALARICO: Representative Hefner, one, I want to thank you. You and I have engaged in good faith, thoughtful conversations about this legislation. I consider you a friend and am thankful that you engaged with me on those conversations. I know we agreed on the first amendment that we added. This second amendment you're opposing, and I just want to understand why you're opposing it and have that conversation in front of the body. Are you aware of the National School Chaplains Association?

HEFNER: I've heard of them.

TALARICO: They testified in favor of the bill, both in the house and in the senate. Have they helped you at all with this bill?

HEFNER: We had several different people supply input that we talked to. I don't remember those specifically.

TALARICO: Are you aware the stated purpose of this organization is, "To enhance His presence by infiltrating the system and supporting Christians functioning and operating inside the school systems"?

HEFNER: I'm not advised. What I'm aware of—what this bill does is allow school districts to determine whether or not they want to allow chaplains as hired or volunteer personnel.

TALARICO: I appreciate that that is your purpose. I am worried about the organizations that may try to take advantage of this, including any organization that is attempting to "infiltrate" our public schools.

HEFNER: That is why this bill is permissive and would allow the school boards to establish their own rules.

TALARICO: And that's why, a few moments ago, we added another amendment that was acceptable to you which would define what a chaplain is to be in alignment with the Department of Defense standards, is that correct?

HEFNER: Correct.

TALARICO: Thank you for accepting that amendment. Representative Hefner, do you think we should encourage the infiltration of our public schools?

HEFNER: I think we need to give our school districts every tool that we can in the toolbox. With all that we've been experiencing—with mental health issues, with catastrophes and crises—our schools need to have every available tool to them and this is just another tool.

TALARICO: I want to ask about the amendment that's before us which requires parental consent before a student can meet with a chaplain. I know, Representative Hefner, that you are a champion for parental rights. So I'm curious why requiring parental consent before a student can meet with a chaplain is not acceptable to you in this legislation?

HEFNER: We currently do not require parental consent for them to meet with school counselors, and again, school districts will be free to establish any kind of rules and regulations regarding how the chaplains would conduct themselves.

TALARICO: Do you believe a chaplain has the same qualifications as a school counselor?

HEFNER: I don't know that they would be performing all the duties a school counselor does, but I do believe they are quite qualified to help with life issues and challenges that may be facing our students and teachers. I think they are more than qualified to fill these roles.

TALARICO: To be a school counselor in Texas you have to have a master's degree. Are we requiring that school chaplains have a master's degree in this bill?

HEFNER: I don't believe so.

TALARICO: School counselors have to teach in Texas public schools for two years in a classroom before they can be a school counselor. Are we requiring the chaplains teach in a classroom for two years before becoming a school chaplain?

HEFNER: In the definition of the chaplains that we had before, chaplains go through extensive training, through all kinds of issues they deal with. And again, like I say, this is permissive. Schools can require what they see fit.

TALARICO: So Representative Hefner, I agree that some chaplains go through extensive training. As you know, I'm currently a student at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary where I'm studying alongside students who are going to become chaplains in our hospitals, in our prisons, in our armed forces. They are getting a master's degree in divinity and going through extensive courses in counseling and training for counseling. But I want to clarify that not all chaplains have to go through that type of rigorous training. In fact, I'm looking at the website of the organization I mentioned earlier—National School Chaplains Association—they admit on their website that the training is "minimal." It includes a 48-hour program that's equivalent to one college credit. That doesn't sound extensive to me. Does that sound extensive to you, Representative Hefner?

HEFNER: Well, a school could very well require their chaplain to become a board-certified chaplain. Some of the requirements there—essential requirements for certification—include endorsement from your faith tradition, a master's degree from an accredited theological school, at least four units of CPE, post-training, clinical pastoral experience, preparation of clinical materials, and face-to-face appearance before a certification committee. So there again, I want to make sure that we're making it clear that everybody knows that the schools may choose to do this or not. They can put whatever rules and regulations in place that they see fit.

TALARICO: Why don't we add to your legislation that chaplains have to meet those high standards before serving our students in Texas public schools?

HEFNER: I think, to be blunt with you, we can trust the school boards to do that right there.

TALARICO: Representative Hefner, part of the amendment that you're opposing would require chaplains to undergo a background check, which is required for most of the adults who work in our public school system. Is there a reason you're opposing that part of the amendment?

HEFNER: Again, I trust my school boards to make those decisions. Your amendment also requires that the education commissioner and the TEA establish rules of conduct. I'd rather see that happen at the local level.

TALARICO: You don't want to require in your bill that chaplains have to undergo a background check?

HEFNER: I want to leave it to the schools to make those decisions, school boards.

TALARICO: Just to make sure I'm clear—and we've talked a lot about parental rights—you don't want to mandate that schools have to receive parental consent before—

HEFNER: Representative Talarico, I have full faith and trust in our school boards to put regulations in place that would keep our kids from being exposed to dangerous people.

TALARICO: I appreciate that, Representative Hefner. My primary concern is that by not putting these guardrails in this piece of legislation that we're going to add our name to that we'll allow organizations like the National School Chaplains Association—whose stated purpose is to infiltrate our system—to take advantage of your legislation and infiltrate our public schools.

REPRESENTATIVE BERNAL: I want to get to the text of the bill, if we could. The first is, it says that a school or a district can hire "a" chaplain. Does that mean that each campus would be limited to one?

HEFNER: No. We dug into that, Representative Bernal, because I was concerned about that a little bit. But from my understanding they would not be limited to a single chaplain. And I wanted to make sure that the schools could have as many as they thought was necessary.

BERNAL: And so my second question then would be: Under your bill, is it possible that any campus could replace all of their counselors with just chaplains? Could you have campuses where the only support employee on-site is a chaplain, but not a counselor, a social worker, a school psychologist, or a family specialist?

HEFNER: The way this bill is drafted, and the intent of the bill, is to allow the schools the option to have chaplains in place of or alongside the counselors.

BERNAL: So just to be clear then, and I want to make this clear to the body that the answer then—and this is not a "gotcha" moment—but the answer then is yes. The way that the bill is crafted, a school board could opt to have no counselors, no family specialists, no school psychologists, and replace them entirely with chaplains.

HEFNER: Representative Bernal, I trust our schools to make the right decisions in those areas. I don't think they would do that, and I think we ought to trust our school boards and superintendents a little bit more than that to make the right decision here.

BERNAL: And I believe that you believe that. I have no doubt that the vast majority of districts would do that. But I guess my question is, theoretically, that is possible? It is possible that a district—

HEFNER: I guess if the schools thought that was a necessary thing, they could make that decision.

TALARICO: This amendment is being brought forward in good faith. I'm not trying to undermine Representative Hefner's bill, not trying to gut his bill. I'm trying to put in place commonsense guardrails on this piece of legislation to ensure we are protecting parents and protecting kids. Like I said, we have done a lot of talking about parental rights during this session. We have passed legislation requiring parental consent for a lot less than meeting with a religious official on campus. I really can't find a reason why we wouldn't require parental consent for a student to meet with a religious official in one of our public schools. We had—maybe until tomorrow—we had a member of this body who was a youth minister. I would hope we submit any person like that to a background check before meeting with our school officials or with our students and that's what this amendment does. I urge you to vote yes on the amendment.

Amendment No. 4

Representative Wu offered the following amendment to SB 763:

Amend SB 763 (house committee report) on page 1, between lines 15 and 16, by inserting the following appropriately numbered section:

Sec. 23. REQUIRED PRESENCE OF OTHER RELIGIOUS LEADERS DURING PROVISION OF CHAPLAIN SUPPORT, SERVICES, OR PROGRAMS. A school district or open-enrollment charter school that employs or accepts as a volunteer a chaplain under this chapter shall provide a representative of any other denomination or faith if requested by a student, a student's parent or guardian, or a teacher.

AMENDMENT NO. 4 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE WU: Members, this is a simple, commonsense addition to this bill. This bill allows people of faith to work in their schools. All this is saying is that, "Hey, we recognize that not only do we have a diversity of faiths in this state, but there is a diversity of denominations within our faith." And there may be students who say, "Look, I want to talk to somebody, but I want to talk to somebody within my own denomination," whether that be a Catholic priest, a Muslim imam, or a Jewish rabbi, they should have the ability to request it. All this amendment says is if a teacher or a student requests this, please allow them to bring in somebody else that they are comfortable with.

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: It's clear in the bill that chaplains do not push certain denominations so this is not necessary, and I ask you vote no.

WU: I love being up here and setting records for future litigation. This simply says that we are going to respect all faiths, all denominations. If schools want to hire or bring in one denomination, one specific faith and you have students and teachers that say, "Could we have an additional denomination? Could we have an additional faith?" Otherwise there is a monopoly by one group. All this is saying is that if students, parents, or teachers would like another denomination, would like another faith to be present as well, that we do that. This is not a difficult thing. This does not gut the bill, this does not hurt anything. It allows more choice, it allows more freedom, it allows more liberty. How can you be against that?

REPRESENTATIVE ANCHÍA: Representative Wu, all you are saying is that if a person is comfortable with one faith tradition—they've been raised in a church, a temple, a mosque, or not at all—that they simply can request that faith tradition and opt out of the faith tradition that is being offered by the school. Is that all your amendment says?

WU: Absolutely. And as you well know, different faiths have different philosophies about how to interact with people. They have different traditions about understanding the world and if students are having a hard time, if students are having a difficult time with life—maybe they are traumatized, maybe they have problems at home—they might appreciate someone who also understands their viewpoints, understands where they come from, understands their faith. This is not a difficult thing to do. This is not a difficult thing to ask for. Simply, "Hey, I am more comfortable in my denomination, in my faith." Is that so much to ask for?

ANCHÍA: So both of my daughters were raised in the Catholic church. If a school district brought in members from a non-Christian faith tradition, and my daughter said, "Hey, I'd prefer to have a Catholic chaplain"—pardon me, priest—"who would counsel me," they would be prohibited from doing that under this? Instead the school district or school would mandate to them that they must receive counseling from a pastor or a chaplain in the faith tradition of the government?

WU: Yes.

REPRESENTATIVE BERNAL: Representative Wu, I want to ask sort of what Representative Anchia was, but from a different perspective. My understanding is that the bill allows for both the hiring and the volunteering of a chaplain. And is it your understanding that if your amendment doesn't get on, then people from other faiths, a rabbi, an imam, et cetera would not be allowed, or be prevented, from volunteering at a school for their services?

WU: Absolutely.

BERNAL: It's not just that someone, like my daughter who's Jewish, could not receive counseling or services from a rabbi, but that willing, qualified rabbi would not be allowed not only to be hired, but would not be allowed to volunteer. Because the bill considers both employment and volunteer, is that right?

WU: Absolutely. In a sense—just as our discussion with Chairman Anchia—in essence, if we do not take this amendment, school districts that make a choice about which faiths, which denominations will be present in schools are by default creating a state sanctioned religious indoctrination if that's what they wanted to do. Because no one else could come in. No one else could request something different. If you are Catholic, if you are Protestant, if you are Lutheran, or if you are a Muslim, or if you are Buddhist, or if you are Jewish, think carefully about your vote on this. Think about what you want our children to be able to request for them to receive in these troubling times. When our kids have so much trauma in their life, simply letting them ask for someone they are comfortable with, for someone that they feel understands their background, understands their world view, that's not a big ask. That's not a big requirement. And in this day and age it is not hard at all to find anyone of any faith who will come in and say, "Hey, I'm happy to talk." That's it. We're helping our kids and making sure all of our kids get what they want and not necessarily what the school board or the school forces down their throat. I urge you to vote yes on the amendment.

A record vote was requested.

Amendment No. 5

Representative Hinojosa offered the following amendment to SB 763:

Amend SB 763 (house committee report) as follows:

(2) On page 1, between lines 15 and 16, insert the following appropriately lettered subsection:

( ) A school district or open-enrollment charter school may not employ or accept as a volunteer a chaplain who has been convicted of or placed on deferred adjudication community supervision for an offense for which a defendant is required to register as a sex offender under Chapter 62, Code of Criminal Procedure.

REPRESENTATIVE HINOJOSA: This amendment says that we cannot allow chaplains who have a background of being a convicted sex offender into our schools. I believe it is acceptable to the author.

Amendment No. 5 was adopted.

Amendment No. 6

Representative Zwiener offered the following amendment to SB 763:

Amend SB 763 by striking lines 13-18 on page 3.

AMENDMENT NO. 6 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE ZWIENER: This is a very simple amendment that removes one of the more problematic elements of this bill. If you turn to page 3 of this bill, you'll see that Section 3 requires every school board and every governing board of a charter school to vote affirmatively on whether or not they are going to bring chaplains into their school district under this provision.

Members, I have never seen us do anything like this where we force a school board to affirmatively vote up or down on the record on a proposal like this. I really have to ask myself, "Why do we think that is a good idea—to require our school districts to vote?" I'm concerned that it's a provision that's going to end up causing consternation in our communities. If we remove this, it still leaves control in the hands of individual districts if they want to do this or not, but it does not force them to take a record vote if this is not a direction they want to go as a board. So members, I would encourage you to consider supporting this amendment and keeping unnecessary drama out of our school board meetings. Goodness knows they have had enough drama the last couple of years. Let them focus on educating our kids instead of risking potentially being pulled into some unnecessary conflicts within their own communities.

You all see the conflict that we are having here on the floor today—I don't want that conflict to be happening in my school board meetings in my district and I don't think you all want that either.

REPRESENTATIVE HEFNER: As you all can tell up here, these amendments are coming at me at the last minute, and I haven't had really a chance to look at them and think through them. We want to leave this bill as is. I please ask you to stick with me and vote no.

ZWIENER: Representative Hefner, what is the value of asking every school board in the state to vote up or down on this?

HEFNER: I don't think it is a problem to know where they stand on the issue, and that is the way the bill was drafted. We worked it all through the process, and I would like to keep it like it is.

ZWIENER: So is the intention to try to cause some kind of consternation in some of our districts if they don't want to pursue this?

HEFNER: No.

ZWIENER: So then why not just remove the provision so that individual school districts don't have to vote on this?

HEFNER: Well, like I said, we have worked this bill pretty thoroughly through the process in an open and transparent manner. I think it's not too much to ask to have people make a decision on it.

ZWIENER: Representative Hefner, do you understand my concerns about some of the drama that might cause in school districts across the state if you do have a local divide over this?

HEFNER: No, ma'am. No.

ZWIENER: You don't share my concern that the challenge and conflict we are having in this chamber today might bleed over into our schools when they really need to focus on the important work of educating our kids?

HEFNER: No.

ZWIENER: Members, there is no good reason to compel every school board in the State of Texas to vote on whether or not to bring chaplains into the school. There is no reason to force every governing board of every charter school in the State of Texas to vote on this. All it is doing is inviting dissent and controversy into our school boards for no reason. Now, some of you all represent school boards where this won't be any controversy, but some of you all, like me, represent diverse communities with diverse feelings about religion—diverse communities with many faiths represented where this is going to be yet another cause of tension. In the years following our districts having to navigate COVID, having to navigate increased attention on libraries, having to navigate increased attention on every single aspect of school business, our schools are struggling. We are struggling to have people who are willing to step up and run for school board because it has become an unpleasant situation for many of those folks. In every single district I represent, I have school board members who have received death threats because of how hostile and how much conflict we have had around our school boards. So let's not pour any more fuel on that fire, members. Our children need us to pull our districts back from culture wars and let them get more focused on what's really important—educating our children.

So members, please support this amendment to make sure that our school board members can focus on what is important. If we adopt this amendment, every district in Texas can still vote to have chaplains if they want, but if they don't want to, this amendment does not make them vote. I ask for your support, members.

HB 3127 ON SECOND READING

(by Ashby, et al.)

HB 3127, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to the study of school district property values conducted by the comptroller of public accounts.

HB 3127 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE CANALES: So one of the things we've heard over and over—not only in this legislative session, but the past—is that appraisal districts are out of control. We've got to rein in appraisals for our constituents because their property taxes have just ballooned to where we can't afford to own anything anymore. Have you heard those concerns?

REPRESENTATIVE ASHBY: Absolutely.

CANALES: One of the things that your bill addresses is that sometimes our appraisals are raised by the comptroller because they're not in compliance. Is that correct?

ASHBY: That is correct.

CANALES: So sometimes we want to blame the appraisal district, but many times the problem is that the State of Texas is making those appraisals rise to be in compliance with the comptroller.

ASHBY: That is correct.

CANALES: So this doesn't necessarily solve that problem does it, but it gives them a grace period? Just trying to understand the bill.

ASHBY: Yes, it allows them a one-year grace period to be out of that five percent compliance factor within the comptroller's property valuation study.

CANALES: I appreciate your effort. I really wish we could go a lot further and stop the comptroller from controlling our appraisal districts and raising our property taxes beyond the ability to own property. So this doesn't solve that problem, this just gives us a little cushion?

ASHBY: That's correct. And I couldn't agree more with your comments.

CANALES: I hope that you will work with me in putting an end to the comptroller being—assisting or aiding and abetting our appraisal districts from ballooning out of control. Thank you.

ASHBY: Thank you, Representative Canales.

REPRESENTATIVE C. BELL: Along the same lines of what Chairman Canales was talking about, you know our appraisal districts are currently using mass appraisal and the comptroller's office is asserting in our fiscal notes that mass appraisal is the basis for which they've got to meet that standard. Is that kind of your understanding?

ASHBY: Right, they give us the valuation that school districts and local appraisal districts and all of our counties have to be within a five percent variance of. Correct.

C. BELL: And those mass appraisals don't take into consideration the specific price of your property or anything along that nature, does it?

ASHBY: Well, personally I would say yes, but I think that's probably a question better addressed by our local appraisal districts.

C. BELL: So it's your opinion that mass appraisal says that the value of every piece of property under a mass appraisal is actually an accurate depiction of what property values should be?

ASHBY: Do I believe the current system addresses the current—I'm sorry, let me rephrase and say it another way. If you're asking me if I believe our current appraisal system appropriately appraises each—both personal and business or commercial property based on the market valuation, the answer is no.

C. BELL: The answer is no. That's my opinion as well, and I think it's important to continue to work to try to bring integrity back into that process so our constituents, those folks outside this floor, will be able to look at this process and understand that it works and that they're not subjects. They're in fact represented in this body. So I appreciate your bill.

ASHBY: Absolutely. Thank you, Representative Bell. I appreciate the question.

CSHB 2665 ON SECOND READING

(by Gates, Longoria, Clardy, Perez, Cook, et al.)

CSHB 2665, A bill to be entitled An Act relating to an interim study of the municipal regulation of short-term rental properties and residential amenity rental properties.

CSHB 2665 - REMARKS

REPRESENTATIVE LEO-WILSON: Mr. Chairman and members, I represent the City of Galveston law enforcement for my area, small businesses, and many constituents. I rise to oppose this bill. While we appreciate Representative Gates' efforts to improve the bill by proposing an interim committee study on short-term rentals—as proposed, the committee substitute presented to this committee today—I want to outline some of the concerns that we have. The interim committee is charged with studying the impacts of local ordinance on short-term rentals, but local representation on the committee is inadequate to fully understand the impacts of short-term rentals on unique communities like mine.

The city of Galveston has a population of 53,000 and a city budget and police department funded and staffed for a city just over 53,000. Galveston hosts over seven million tourists a year. As we enter the season, the city's population can swell to 300,000 just for any given weekend. I learned while attending a West End property owners' association meeting that Galveston police will face—with prom season alone, between now and Memorial Day—many, many visitors. They have to triage complaints. Parents rent a house that sleeps six. However, this will end up resulting in 300 teenagers there for a party, commonly involving underage drinking.

Because Galveston is a coastal island with limited developmental land, long-term housing supply and affordability is severely impacted without local governments ensuring a delicate balance between short-term rental growth. Housing affordability for workers on the island grows further out of reach when considering increasing house prices. Without some housing inventory balance, persons working in Galveston are priced out of living in Galveston. Galveston employers, especially small businesses on the island, have difficulty recruiting and retaining workers on the island. The city has worked very closely with our short-term rental industry, residents, and stakeholders to reach a delicate balance that has worked for our coastal communities. The City of Galveston has implemented a short-term rental registration ordinance that is administered by the Galveston Park Board. Residents in Galveston neighborhoods are able to exercise their fundamental right to petition their planning commission and city council for an R-0 zoning for their neighborhood. Once granted, the R-0 zoning controls short-term rentals and their growth by a vote of 75 percent. That's higher than a constitutional amendment. The property owners in the neighborhood can seek this R-0 zoning.

The unique needs of Galveston is a very basic petition right which would be preempted by legislation enacted in favor of uniform statewide regulation. The City of Galveston holds concerns about a study conducted by a task force by the Department of Licensing and Regulation outside of the traditional legislative interim charge. An interim committee created to study the impacts of short-term rental regulations must include local representation to capture input from our community. To truly understand short-term rental representation, it should consist of a large urban community representative, a small urban community representative, a coastal community representative, and law enforcement. This is zoned for residential. That would help us limit commercial developers coming in and foreign entities buying short-term rentals. I move that you oppose this bill.

A record vote was requested.

CSHB 153 - POINT OF ORDER

Representative Bucy raised a point of order against further consideration of CSHB 153 under Rule 4, Section 32(c)(1), of the House Rules. The speaker sustained the point of order, announcing his decision to the house as follows:

Mr. Bucy raises a point of order against further consideration of CSHB 153, under Rule 4, Section 32(c)(1), on the grounds that the background and purpose statement in the bill analysis is substantially or materially misleading.

The complained-of statement begins with the phrase "concerns have been raised" and then recites several allegations of intentional, unlawful behavior. The subsequent sentences do not provide any objectively reliable support for this list of alleged concerns.

It is well-settled that a bill analysis complies with the rule only when it provides objectively reliable information. E.g., 86 H. Jour. 4355-4356 (2019). Committee chairs have been expressly advised that "[v]ague references . . . in supporting a factual statement do not meet the [objectively reliable] test." Guide for Committee Chairs 17, 88th Legis. (2023). In light of the long-standing doctrine and the recent guidance, the vague statement regarding "concerns" is plainly an unverifiable statement of opinion and the Chair has no alternative but to sustain the objection.

Accordingly, the point of order is well-taken and sustained.
